

I would highly recommend Matthew Opuda to any individual or organization who is looking for help with strategic support. I have experience working with Matthew for the last six years as a board member and president of the Association for Maine Behavior Analysis. I have been very grateful for Matthew's skills and his business approach. While Matthew always fulfills all of his assignments in a very timely fashion, what is even more impressive is the genuine interest he has in the organizations he supports. When working with Matthew it is easy to notice that he truly cares about the success of the organization. Matthew goes above and beyond to help the individuals within the organization, even when it is outside of his "job description."

Matthew has intelligent and creative problem solving skills which he uses in a variety of contexts to help the organization. When working with Matthew he always has a positive approach to finding a solution. Matthew's overall attitude and availability is very calming especially in potentially stressful situations. Plus, he is very skilled at keeping large and small groups on task!
