"Jamie and her team at Greenlight Interactive are great to work with. She took time to truly understand what we were shooting for. She engaged in productive conversations in which she advocated for the direction she thought wisest and regularly improved projects beyond what I envisioned, while understanding and aligning on the few times I disagreed. We have a logo that we love and works in every format we've used so far, our website is easy to understand and use, and the videos she made are all clear, whimsical, and informative. Jamie also takes huge ownership of her projects and has proactively pointed out to me when our website has devolved over time through our staff's changes and has produced smaller jobs that needed to be done fast as she assured our brand remained consistent."
