

It is with great enthusiasm that I recommend Ben Smith as a thoughtful, open-minded, and approachable leader. During our time working together at Brado, I was consistently impressed by his depth of technical expertise and his ability to seamlessly navigate back-end, front-end, and cloud technologies—a rare skill set among tech leaders. Ben possesses a wealth of knowledge and an unwavering commitment to excellence in his work.

What truly sets Ben apart is his collaborative approach. He fosters an inclusive environment where every voice is valued, taking the time to understand diverse perspectives and incorporate them into solutions. His genuine care for both the work and his team is evident in his thoughtful decision-making and dedication to finding the best outcomes for all stakeholders. Ben's ability to combine technical proficiency with empathetic leadership makes him an invaluable asset to any organization.
