To Whom it May Concern,

I'm pleased to recommend Anthony Bucci as a consultant for software development services.

Anthony provided his expert services as a consultant to Lyrasis on the CollectionSpace project from November 2024 through August 2025. During that time, he conducted a detailed analysis of the software architecture, identified areas for optimization and refactoring, and helped to institute improved software development practices to the team. He also implemented new features and bug fixes.

Anthony is a highly skilled and conscientious software architect and developer. He is also a good communicator, a team-player, and responsive to feedback. He strives to find solutions that don't compromise on quality, are innovative, and which fully address the use cases.

I strongly recommend his services.

Sincerely,
