Spruce Skincare

Having been a business owner since 2002, I took a five-year break after selling in 2018. When I came back to open a new business, I had difficulty finding the time and patience to go through the hoops needed to get recognized by Google’s search engine and Maps. I contracted Mr. Russell’s help, and he had me up and running in the Google world in very short order. It was not long before new customers were finding me. Lightkeeper is also helping me use Canva to turn my ideas into well-designed marketing materials quickly and confidently, which has made a real difference for Spruce Skincare.

In short, I highly recommend Brian Russell and Lightkeeper to any business that needs help getting found and turning its marketing ideas into something professional and ready to use.
