I have tremendously benefited from Corey's insights and support in strategically planning the scaling of my business. Corey is compassionate, understanding and resourceful. She intuitively sees the strengths that I/my business can leverage for success and is clear-sighted about articulating a path forward to maximize outcomes of my strategic goals.

Corey and her team at WanderWeb were very responsive and helpful when we hired them to do an audit of our site. Not only have we retained them for other projects but other small businesses in our downtown have done the same. We are so lucky to have been introduced to the WanderWeb team!

Corey is hands down THE BEST web designer I have ever worked with. Not only is she skilled and knowledgeable, she is also extremely organized, a great communicator and can solve any problem that comes her way. She kept a running list of everything my business needed to provide her in order to complete the redesign of our website and sent us reminders along the way to keep us on track with our launch goal. Her communication and problem solving skills really put her a step above the rest!

Corey and the WanderWeb team have helped grow my family business in many ways. Corey built our website and online ordering system for our restaurant and food truck that have help us reach a new niche that we previously were unable to. There is a long list of the many hats Corey and her team wears that has helped us far beyond a website and online ordering system. Corey's personal approach to all of our business needs has been professional, creative, and genuine.

I had the pleasure of working with Corey Zimmerman on the creation of my business Website. She is attentive to detail, patient, listens to your ideas/vision and brings them to fruition with her unique and creative flair. I am beyond pleased with the end result. Placing things in her hands for monthly maintenance was a no brainer. She is well worth the investment. Her personal approach makes you feel like part of a family. She always responds in a timely manner and goes above and beyond to assure you are a happy client. Thank you, Corey. You are a top notch professional. For those reading...you cannot go wrong using WanderWeb for your web services.

Before I was familiar with Corey and her business, the WanderWeb Design and Development, my business had a weak web presence. My previous website was not attracting our ideal clients and it needed updating really bad. Corey listened and took detailed notes on our website goals. Her fun personality and balanced attitude made it a positive work environment. Trusting someone with building a website is personal and it can be a bit unnerving. Corey made me feel comfortable and at ease, but also pushed me a bit out of my comfort zone. That push actually worked out in the best way possible. Thanks to Corey and her team, Bloom in Clean's new website truly does represent us and how we can help people. The website images are gorgeous, the store is seamless, onboarding clients has freed up so much time and we even have automated systems in place. I have so much more time to grow my business. I highly recommend the WanderWeb!
